

Construction Management • General Contractors • Design/Build

March 24, 2016

To Whom It May Concern:

Target Building Construction is pleased to recommend Spitfire Management LLC as the solution for your project management information needs. We are a general contractor with a volume of approximately $50 million. We were looking for a project management system that would provide us with information easily and quickly. We wanted a system that was user friendly so that both office and field employees could benefit from its uses. We needed a system to collect and coordinate our field data with our management data and also integrate project management with accounting. We wanted a system that would keep up with technology and grow with our business. The Spitfire Software system meets all of our needs.

We installed Spitfire in 2009 and we have 25 users. We were up and running within the same week of installation. We are very happy with the program and find that we have access to the data we need and can get answers quickly. We are pleased with the document management and the reporting aspects of the program. We find the staff at Spitfire helpful and responsive. They continue to offer their expertise and guidance, and have been available for all of the enhancements along the way.

We are very pleased with Spitfire Software and the Spitfire people and highly recommend them.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in blue ink that reads "Eileen B. Macario".

Eileen B. Macario, CPA
CFO